

Re-certification

Re-certification programs should be designed to complement the province's general approach to continuing competence. The frequency of re-certification should be the same for specialists as it is for the general practice continuing competence program. The program components should also be similar, although they will require greater depth of knowledge in the specialty area. If the re-certification process is carefully designed, it might meet the pharmacist's general continuing competence assessment requirements.